13 "Nightriders" Are Bound Over

Preliminary Hearing Before Judge Stahr Lasted Two and Half Days. Big Crowd Attends Trial. About Hundred Witnesses Testify. No Demonstrations.

John Touey Turns State's Evidence.

State's Star Witness Half Brother of One of Defendants. All Offer Proof of Alibis. Bonds Fixed at $500 Each. Cases Go To May Term Fulton Circuit Court.

The most interesting cases in this case after John Touey turned State's evidence:

Tom Carr
Fred Smith
Bud Thomas
Noah Knight
Will Carden
Clarence St. Clair
Bob Ellis
Otto Dotson
Bud Dotson
Bob Webb
Jess Harrison
Chas. Huff
Vodie Montgomery.

In last week's paper, the names of Leslie and Ernest Brice were included in this list. They were not connected with this case, and were exonerated without a trial.

The case, after being stubbornly contested all the way through, came to a close Monday morning, with eloquent arguments by both Moore and Smith.

Judge Stahr reviewed the case from all angles and explained his position from a point of law and not from that of his private sentiments. The evidence, he believed, as governed in preliminary trials, was sufficient to warrant his holding the defendants, which he did. Bond was fixed for them at $500 each.

The trump card of the defense—the logical step to take—was in proving alibis.

Following we give a brief summary of the testimony of each witness, as heard by a Courier representative. This we do not give as absolutely correct, but is substantially so, and carries the salient points bearing on the issue:

W. C. Tipton: I live in Hickman and own land in bottom in Fulton county. Have three negro tenants—Noah Roberts, Gus Taylor and J. L. Johnson. The houses occupied by Robert and Taylor were shot into on Feb. 10. Found the negroes badly scared and met negro women in wagons next day moving out. Saw no shells. Windows were broken and indications were that both shotgun and pistols had been used. I know Lon Darkey and John Jennings (also called John Touey). Met Jennings on my place. I talked to John in regard to these raids; he denied any knowledge of them, but I didn't believe him. I promised him $25 and immunity and protection if he would tell the truth about it. He finally gave the names of five, Noah Knight, Clarence St. Clair, Jess Harrison, Tom Cleaver—and one other. I took John home with me and Sunday night he gave me the following names of men he said was in the raid—Tom Carr, Fred Smith, Bud Thomas, Noah Knight, Will Carden, Jas. St. Clair, Jess Harrison, Tom Cleaver, Bob Webb, Chas. Huff. Witness then related the story told to him by Jennings. He also stated that Fred Smith was asked to turn State's evidence, but he refused.

W. J. Harper: Said he owned houses in bottom which were shot into; shot on side of house were so thick "you couldn't lay your hand on the house without covering the holes." Darkies lived in his houses.

Noah Roberts (negro): I live on W. C. Tipton's place. My house was shot into between 9 and 10 o'clock on night of Feb. 10. Think there were about 35 shots fired; they shot out one round and loaded up again. Found empty No. 12 shotgun and 38 pistol shells on levee next morning. Saw the crowd but didn't recognize any of them. They went up on the levee then. They heard shots at Gus Taylor's house. Witness left home after shooting. Couldn't say if moon was shining; could say if the

HON. O. H. BROOKS. Candidate for State Senator

"dozen or so" men he saw were riding. He had No. 12 gun.

Gus Taylor (negro): Lived on the Tipton place; his home was shot into between 9 and 10 o'clock; house was badly shot up and windows broken. Found shotgun and pistol shells on levee next morning. Never saw anybody, but heard more shooting after they left my house. Me and my family did not take time to dress before leaving; I was barefooted; finishing dressing on road. Wasn't real dark. Have No. 10 gun.

Jerry Moore (negro): Live on Mr. Harper's place. They shot into my house about 11 o'clock, and was "right smart shooting." Found 9 shotgun and 4 pistol shells on levee next day. Could hear talking but couldn't understand. Five minutes later shooting began at houses below me. They broke four windows in my house. Found 5 shotgun shells and two 38 pistol shells on levee next day. Never looked out that night; "I was scared," and stayed there til day. I was sleeping under a window they shot out and the glass fell in on me. I came from Cairo. "I did not pray, but I was trustin' in de Lord, alright."

A. Leip: I live with Binford Henry and own a single barrel No. 12 gun, which I loaned to St. Clair.

Binford Henry: I live 14 miles below Hickman. My No. 12 gun was loaned by my wife to a son of Chas. Huff. Hearing of this trouble the next day, I went after my gun and told my wife not to loan it again. I was at Huff's between 7 and 8 o'clock but he was not at home.

John Jennings or John Touey (this is the State's star witness, who turned State's evidence): I am 24 years old and am a timber cutter. Chas. Huff is my half brother. I took supper at Tom Carr's on night of Feb. 10. Started to Huff's about 7:30 and met Huff, St. Clair and Bob (Ellis). They asked me where I was going, and I told them home. They made me go with them. We went to Carden's and called him out. Then to Carr's. Carr came out with shotgun. Then we went to Thomas' and he came out with a shotgun; then to Fred Smith's. Fred didn't want to go but they made him go. They all took a self-administered night-riding oath except me; I wouldn't take it and they said they would kill me anyhow if I every told anything. The oath was to the effect that if any one told on the rest, he would pay for it with his life. Tom Carr, being the oldest, was elected foreman or captain. We met the Dotson boys under a "cottonwood tree." They were waiting for us. We then went to the two Tipton houses and shot two rounds into each. I had no gun, but when we got to Mr. Willis' I went in and got his shotgun without asking for it. I saw no one at his house. The gun was empty and somebody gave me two shells for it. Two rounds were shot into the Harper houses.

I shot two loads from my gun at the ground. I sat down on the levee and some "fat man" I did not know sat down with me; I was tired. Then we disbanded. A raid was arranged for the next night at Sassafras Ridge, Bonduant, Swatch and Miller. We shot from top of levee. Vodie Shaw was in the crowd and Jeff Colbert. I got uneasy about this affair and decided it was best to tell it. Officers came and got me Saturday, but I had not told before. I told on part of gang Saturday and the rest Sunday night at Mr. Tipton's home. All had guns; about half and half of shotguns and "short guns." Mr. Webb had a No. 10; the short guns were 38. Shooting began about 9 o'clock and we were on levee all time. I stayed at Mr. Willis' that night and slept with Theo. Lucas. I didn't know the fat man. Isom Smith was called out; don't know what they said to him. Fred had no gun but Rollie Champion have him a short gun. Five more joined us at "cottonwood tree." Witness said he called it "night-walking," instead of night-riding. Yes, I have been promised $25 for telling this. Huff had Binford Henry's gun.

Theo. Lucas: I live three miles below Mabel, and know John Touey. I stay at Mr. Willis' Jno. stayed there one night and slept with me; not positive that it was the 10th.

Alfred Willis: I know John Jennings. Suppose he got my gun—he brought it back about 11 o'clock night of raid and stayed all night with us. I saw somebody "reach around" and get my gun. It was No. 12 and empty. John ate breakfast with me. He told me "not to talk." I am a son-in-law of Tom Carr.

Bob Allen: I know Jim Phillips; he had been staying at my house for the past five weeks. Jim went coon hunting Wednesday night, taking No. 10 gun. He came back Friday and left again Saturday. Don't know where he is now.

Bailey Huddleston: I had warrant for Jim Phillips and have looked for him. I heard he left Sunday and is now in Missouri. My first arrest in this case was Sunday. Rolls Champion and Jeff Colbert I cannot find.

State rested. Atty. Moore for defendants, made motion that Jess

Harrison be discharged as his name was not given in by prosecuting witness. Motion was lost. Defendants began the introduction of witnesses:

Fred Smith (deft.): Am 30 years old, have wife and two children, live in Tennessee. I don't recollect seeing John Touey Wednesday night. Was at home Wednesday night; went to bed about 8 o'clock. No one called me out. Was arrested Saturday at Phillippe's store by Sheriff Hall, on charge of nightriding. I was asked by Tipton and others to turn State's evidence, and get out of the trouble. Touey told Carden and me that Tipton held me "up there" for five hours. John was not at my home Feb. 10.

Isom Smith: Father of Fred Smith. Was at Fred's home and spent the night. Fred did not leave, no one called.

Mrs. Will Carden: My husband was at home both Wednesday and Friday nights. John Touey stayed at our house Friday night. We heard the shooting at Phillippe.

Will O. Carden (deft.): I live on Smith's place in Tennessee; am 30 years old. Touey was not at my place Wednesday; no one came at all. Knew nothing of this trouble, and "would like to see the man that said I was." Have a No. 12 gun. John told me they offered him "$25 around to tell who was in the crowd."

Tom Carr (deft. and alleged captain): Am 52 years old and live in Tenn.; have wife and five children. No one came to my house Wednesday night. I live 1/2 mile from houses shot into. Heard the shooting at Phillippe. I have no shotgun but have "pocket" gun, size 32.

Mrs. Tom Carr and three children testified that no one called at their home Wednesday night.

Oris Jackson: Call John's reputation for truth not good.

John Conner: Generally speaking, Touey's character is bad.

G. W. Tucker: Bob Webb stays with me part of the time. He was at my home and in bed with me night of 10th; we heard and discussed the shooting. Mrs.

Sloan's Liniment will save hours of suffering. For bruise or sprain it gives instant relief. It arrests inflammation and thus prevents more serious troubles developing. No need to rub it in—it acts at once, instantly relieving the pain, however severe it may be.

Here's Proof

Charles Johnson, P. O. Box 105, Lancaster's Station, N. Y., writes: "I sprained my ankle and dislocated my left hip by falling out of a third story window six months ago. I went on crutches for four months, then I started to use some of your Liniment, according to directions, and found out that it is helping me wonderfully. I threw my crutches away. Only used two bottles of your Liniment and now I am walking quite well with one cane. I never will be without Sloan's Liniment."

O. H. Brooks, of Mayfield, announces this week as a candidate for State Senator. Mr. Brooks has served two terms in the lower house, and has made a splendid record. In fact, in his last race, he was unopposed. He is a member of the Mayfield bar, a young man and comes to us highly recommended. Read his announcement carefully and remember he is in the race.

The long and short of it is, Fulton county should vote bonds and build modern, permanent highways. Do it right and have it over with. Whether or not we build a foot of hard roads, we are going to pay 5c on the $100 into the State road fund. The only way to ever get any of this back, is to build roads according to State specifications and then we can get it back—with "added money."

Under the head of "School Notes" will be found another argument for good roads. Miss Luton, county superintendent, gives a statement of school attendance at a number of our country schools. The comparison covers two periods—one when the roads were good, the other when they were not. This alone should be sufficient reason for building better roads. If you doubt that good roads play a prominent part in education, as well as commerce read that article.

FRANK JAMES DEAD.
LAST OF NOTORIOUS GANG.

Frank James, one of the last surviving members of the notorious James gang of outlaws, died on his farm at Excelsior Springs, Mo., Thursday. James was 74 years of age. He had been in ill health for several months and was stricken with apoplexy, passing rapidly into death. Frank James had been living a quiet life for more than thirty years, though for a while he was traveling in connection with horse racing and appeared at a number of fairs in different sections of the country as a semi-atraction.

James was the son of a clergyman. He joined Quantrell's guerrillas in the Civil War together with his brother, Jesse, and took part in the sacking of Lawrence, Kan.

When the war came to an end they were hunted far and wide by relatives of those who had met death at their hands. They soon became outlaws. Many crimes of the decade following war have been laid at the door of the James-Younger gang, of which the only member now living is Cole Younger at Lee's Summit, Mo. Among these deeds were:

The raid on the Commercial Bank at Liberty, Mo., in 1866. One bank defender was killed and $70,000 was stolen.

Looting of the Russellville, Ky., bank in 1868 of $17,000.

Bank robbery at Gallatin, Tenn., in 1868, in which the cashier, Capt. John W. Sheets, was murdered.

Robbery of a bank at Columbia, Ky., in 1872, in which R. A. C. Martin, cashier, was killed.

Raid on a Corydon, Iowa, bank, in which $40,000 was stolen in 1873.

The wrecking and robbing of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific train near Council Bluffs, Iowa, in 1873. The engineer was killed, the fireman wounded and several passengers injured.

Box office in the fair grounds at Kansas City, Mo., was robbed of $9,000 in broad daylight in 1873.

Detective surrounded the James home near Kearney, Mo., Jan. 25, 1875, and threw a bomb into the house, thinking to kill the James brothers. It exploded, tearing off the arm of their mother and killing their brother, Archie.

In 1882, after Jesse James had been shot and killed in his home in St. Joseph, Mo., by Chas. Ford, also a bandit, for a reward of $50,000, Frank James surrendered in Jefferson City, Mo. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary, but after a few years he developed symptoms of tuberculosis and was pardoned by the governor.

The body of Frank James was cremated. The urn containing the ashes, in compliance with the will of Frank James, will be kept in a safety vault deposit until the death of Mrs. James, when it will be interred with her body.

The longer I linger the more I discern that this world of ours is a darn queer concern. It's a crime to pick pockets, but it's perfectly right to pick a man's wages on Saturday night; for the laws are constructed, where ever I've been, that the workers are made for the grafters to skin. If you try to be honest you don't stand a chance; you are sure to be known by the patch on your pants. If you steal a few millions you're person of note; if you steal a ham-bone the police get your goat. If you run around naked you're sent to the pen; if you swipe some old clothing you go there again. If you murder in war, then your valor is sung; if you privately murder you're doomed to be hung. If a girl sells her virtue she's branded as vile, but the rooster that bought it is met with a smile. If a man tells the truth then the people get tired; if he tells them a myth, why they say he's inspired. It's a funny old world wherever you turn; it's a devilish twisted and a darn queer concern; it's badly balled up and it's all out of tune, and must be a sight to the man in the moon.—Exchange.

HENRY & HENRY

THE WAR ZONE AND NEUTRAL COMMERCE.

Germany has announced that her submarines and mines would close all the ports in Great Britain and sink all suspected British ships of all kind, going to that country, unless England would permit neutral ships to go to German ports with food for civilians. The British government refused to accept the compromise, and a number of ships have already been sent to the bottom. Neutral shipping has been duly warned of the danger of going into the war zone. As England is using our flag and those of other nations on her ships, Germany has no way of telling neutral from belligerent ships. England thus endangers our commerce and persists in doing so to our detriment. England is clearly trying to starve Germany, and the latter proposes to turn the tables by making a war zone of the English coast.

In 1793 England determined to starve France. An order was issued that all provisions destined for French ports should be seized by English ships, surveyed and taken over by the English government at a price.

Jefferson made the point that England should not do this because it was violating our neutrality by making us an instrument in starving France.

Treaties and conferences established the contention of the United States in this matter, and during the last hundred years the progress in international law toward the right of neutrals to ship food into countries in a State of war for use of civilians has been established.

There are now treaties existing between the United States and various countries in which it is set out that food for civilians is not to be considered as contraband.

Until the present war one of the stoutest advocates of this doctrine has been Great Britain. England clearly defined adherence to this principle during the South African war.

Lord Salisbury said: "Food-stuff, though having a hostile destination, can be considered as contraband of war only if they are for the enemy's forces; it is not sufficient that they are capable of being used, it must be shown that this was in fact their destination at the time of their seizure."

Germany says that if neutral ships carrying noncontraband are in those waters and they are destroyed by submarines, then there can be no redress. The position of Germany is that the submarine cannot await to ascertain the identity of the ship.

The very fact of declaring a sea territory to be a war zone is to Germany's mind sufficient warning to all neutrals to keep out.

In the old days before ships of commerce were destroyed, the passengers and crew were taken on.

There is not room in a submarine for anyone else than the crew, and if a submarine comes to the top of the water for the purpose of inspection, a shell from a three-inch gun with which all British merchantmen are armed, exploded in its interior can destroy it.

The United States contends that it has a right in war zones with its neutral commerce and that the submarine must ascertain the identity of a ship before destroying it, and that if the submarine cannot do so, then the submarine must not act. Here is where proper use of flags would save the neutral ships.

Both the English and German principles are clearly in defiance of well-established international customs.

Now, if we lose a ship, who is to blame?

Any good residence property of medium price in Hickman doubles in value in six to seven years. Pay rent that long and you have paid both principle and interest on original investment. By having title in your name during that time you get all increase in value. Pay rent that long and you have paid for two houses and have neither. — See M. B. SHAW for a good investment.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

To the Democratic Voters of the First Senatorial District of Kentucky:

I desire to announce my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the office of State Senator from the First Senatorial district of Kentucky at the primary to be held in August, 1915.

The position of State Senator is one of the most important that can be sought. The wisdom and practicability with which legislation is enacted will tell throughout time in the culture, happiness and success of the citizenship of the commonwealth. It is essential that a man should be elected to this position who is capable of discriminating between those agencies that operate for the happiness and welfare of people and those that are destructive, always having at heart the desire to promote the former and restrain the latter. The ability to do this cannot be had without a practical knowledge of the social conditions and financial affairs of the State. The knowledge can best come through training and experience. I feel I am not wholly without beneficial experience as a legislator, having twice represented the good people of Graves county in the lower branch of the State's general Assembly. I submit to the voters of the First Senatorial district my record in that capacity, that they may judge of my loyalty and fidelity to a public trust.

I consider it would be taxing your patience to review at length any part of that record, as it is in public print for inspection, with which I trust the voters are familiar. But there are some measures I had a small part in passing, and others I endeavored to have enacted in the law that were of more than ordinary interest to the public. Some of these I hope I may be pardoned for mentioning.

I introduced and had passed the joint resolution ratifying the sixteenth amendment to the federal constitution relative to an income tax. The ratification of this resolution by Kentucky placed her in the column with the number of States requisite to the adoption of this great amendment by which a Democratic Congress of the United States has been enabled to lift the burden of one hundred million dollars in taxation from the shoulders of the toiling mass of consumers of the nation, and place it upon the incomes of the millionaires and aggregations of wealth. This has been declared the most just system of taxation.

I introduced an act to pension Confederate soldiers and their widows.

I also introduced and helped to pass an act to establish a sub-experiment station in Western Kentucky, whereby the farmers of this section might be able to improve their agricultural condition and make farming more desirable and profitable. This was vetoed by a Republican Governor.

I exercised all the means at my command to improve the public school system of the State, and was referred to as a leading advocate of the public school interests and better paid teachers.

I earnestly supported and helped to pass "the county unit bill" through the house both sessions I served and at all times labored to further the temperance cause and now invite a comparison of my record along that line with any other who may ask your support.

I mention these acts that the voters may judge of my fitness to occupy a seat in the upper branch of our law-making body in the State. My record will show that I have always opposed need.

less appropriations, and now, if elected, I pledge my best efforts to prevent extravagant expenditures of the public funds, believing that the public bounty should not be the object of common loot, and also to help relieve Kentucky of her present heavy indebtedness striving at all times to promote her best interests.

As a young man I have an ambition to be of some service to my fellow man, and also win for myself some distinction in life. This I realize can only be accomplished by loyalty to duty. If elected State Senator, it will be the gratification of a long cherished aspiration and afford an opportunity to accomplish these desires.

Submitting to you my candidacy on my record and inviting its closest inspection, I shall conclude by saying I hope to meet as many of the voters as possible before the election, also to address them publicly on as many occasions as convenient, and thanking them for all consideration shown, I beg to be,

Yours sincerely,
O. H. BROOKS.

Muhlenburg county is going to try out $6,000 worth of State Aid road this year. Fulton county—at least through the newspapers—is trying to get up some enthusiasm on the subject. So is Calloway. So is Ballard. Why not Hickman county? Don't be a drawback. Push a little and we will have pikes, provided we are not "pikers."—Clinton Gatzette.

A heavy cold in the lungs that was expected to cure itself has been the starting point in many cases of disease that ended fatally. The sensible course is to take frequent doses of BALLARD'S HOREHOUND SYRUP. It checks the progress of the disorder and assists nature to restore normal conditions. JUDGE C. S. NUNN ASKS
RATIFICATION OF APPOINTMENTAs Successor To His Father Upon Bench of the Court of Appeals.

JUDGE C. S. NUNN.

Judge C. S. Nunn, of Marion, Crittenden County, Kentucky, is a candidate at the coming August Democratic primary for election as Judge of the Court of Appeals from the First Appellate District. The district includes Muhlenberg, Hopkins, Webster, Union, Christian and every county in Kentucky west to the Mississippi River. The election is for the unexpired term of his father, Judge T. J. Nunn, who resigned from the bench last March on account of ill health. Judge T. J. Nunn gave up nearly five years of his elective term, and Judge C. S. Nunn is serving a part of that term by appointment of the Governor, the appointment having been made upon the recommendation of all of the judges of that court. Under the law, the appointment is effective until the November election. This election is for the remainder of Judge T. J. Nunn's term—three years. Judge C. S. Nunn hopes the people will ratify the Governor's appointment, and submits his service upon the bench for the people to decide whether it is worthy of endorsement. His duties upon the bench will require his presence in Frankfort until about July 1st, so that he will have very little opportunity to make a personal canvass of his district.

A special from New Madrid, Saturday, says:

"As the result of the warnings of the 'nightriders' that they must leave the district before Tuesday morning, nearly 300 negroes left New Madrid county last night and this morning. Possibly as many more are preparing to depart before the time limit expires. Thus far there has been no violence."

"The negroes, most of whom are employed on farms in this county, will be severely dealt with unless they obey, the order announces. It is expected that trouble will result. The Sheriff, M. J. Conran, has asked Gov. Major to send militia to help him restore order."

STRANGE COW DISEASE.

A report from Charleston, Mo., is to the effect that a strange disease which the veterinarians have been unable to diagnose is killing milk cows in that county. The disease is first noticed when the cow refuses to eat any food and is followed later by a coating of blisters almost completely covering the inside of the mouth. The cow lives only a few days. This resembles very much the presence of Foot and Mouth disease, having the same effect upon humans.

New Treatment for Bronchitis Asthma, Catarrh and Head Colds

Vick's Vap-O-Rub Croup and Pneumonia Salve Relieves by Inhalation and Absorption. No Dosing.

When Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve is applied externally, the body warmth releases vapors of Pine Tar, Camphor, Thymol, Menthol, and Eucalyptol. These vapors are inhaled direct to the lungs and air passages where internal medicines can not go. They loosen the phlegm, open the air passages and stimulate the mucous membranes to throw off the disease germs. For catarrh and head colds melt a little in a spoon and inhale the vapors, also apply well up the nostrils. For asthma and hay fever follow the instructions given above and also rub Vick's well over the spinal column, thus relaxing the nervous tension. Vick's is not a "cure" for these diseases, but it has at least the merit of containing no harmful habit-forming drugs, and it is sold by all druggists on thirty days' trial. If it fails to relieve in your case, the purchase price will be immediately refunded.

For sore throat, tonsilitis, deep colds, and bronchial troubles, apply hot wet towels over the chest and throat to open the pores of the skin. Then rub Vick's well in and cover with a warm flannel cloth. The next morning the phlegm is loosened, head is clear, and, in addition, the absorption of Vick's through the skin has taken out that tightness and soreness. Three sizes—from 25c up.

5 Women Avoid Operations

For years we have been stating in the newspapers of the country that a great many women have escaped serious operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is true.

We are permitted to publish in this announcement extracts from the letters of five women. All have been recently received unsolicited. Could any evidence be more convincing?

1. HODGDON, ME.—"I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached and I was so nervous I could not sleep, and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation, but I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Me.

2. SHELBYVILLE, KY.—"I suffered from a severe female trouble. My right side hurt me badly—it was finally decided that I must be operated upon. When my husband learned this he got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and after taking it a few days I got better and continued to improve until I am now well."—Mrs. MOLLIE SMITH, R.F.D., Shelbyville, Ky.

3. HANOVER, PA.—"The doctor advised a severe operation, but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it."—Mrs. ADA WILT, 303 Walnut St., Hanover, Pa.

4. DECATUR, ILL.—"I was sick in bed and three of the best physicians said I would have to be taken to the hospital for an operation as I had something growing in my left side. I refused to submit to the operation and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and it worked a miracle in my case, and I tell other women what it has done for me."—Mrs. LAURA A. GRISWOLD, 2437 East William Street, Decatur, Ill.

5. CLEVELAND, OHIO.—"I was very irregular and for several years my side pained me so that I expected to have to undergo an operation. Doctors said they knew of nothing that would help me. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I became regular and free from pain. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."—Mrs. C. H. GRIFFITH, 1568 Constant St., Cleveland, O.

NIGHTRIDERS BOUND OVER.

Tucker substantiated his statement.

Chas. Huff (deft.): Live in bottom near Mabel. John Touey is my half brother. I was at home on night of 10th. Never went anywhere with anybody. Wood Tipton, Henry Helm, Chester Bondurant and Rob Goalden promised me freedom if I would tell on the rest. I didn't say "the niggers ought to be run out."

Bob Webb (deft.): Am 45 years old; never arrested before. I stayed at Mr. Tucker's on night of 10th. Didn't take any night-riders oath; did no shooting. My sister (Mrs. Tucker) has a No. 10 gun.

Bud Thomas (deft.): Am 24 years old; have a family; live in Lake county. Never saw John Touey until yesterday. I was at home on 10th; saw no one except Noah Knight, who came over after supper. He went home about 8:30. I heard shooting at Philliply and could see blazes from the guns. Jim Gwens was put under a $1000 bond.

Chester St. Clair (deft.): I am from Glendale, Ky., lived in the bottom since October. Belong to order of Redmen. Work for Will Carden. Went over to Tom Carr's Wednesday night and stayed until 7:30, returning to Carden's. Was reading "Windy Bill," when Noah Knight returned and we went to bed. No one called us out that night; never did any shooting; never took any oath.

Val Carpenter: I do not know anything about the reputation of Touey.

Kingston: John Touey's reputation is not good.

C. M. Covey: Live at Philliply; been there six months. Know John Touey and his reputation is very bad.

Noah Knight (deft.): I work for W. O. Carden in Tennessee. On Feb. 10 I was at Bud Thomas; went after supper and returned about 8:30. No one came while I was at Thomas. I went no where else that night. I took no oath, did no shooting. I know Alfred Willis. Seven of us live within "hollerin' distance" of each other.

Ed Palmer: Mr. Palmer submitted a map or sketch which he made of the section involved in the trouble. Said he knew Jno. Touey and his reputation was bad.

J. C. Patterson: Lived on Sassafras Ridge for past 34 years. I know John Touey; his reputation aint good.

Vodie Montgomery (deft.): I am 22 years old; live with Tom Carr. Went to see Chester Stowe on business Wednesday afternoon returned, ate lunch and went to bed. Took no oath and did not shoot into any houses. I was arrested in Tennessee. Tom Carr is my step-father.

Bud Darnell: Lived in vicinity of Mabel 30 years. Know John Touey, his reputation is not good.

Ottie Dotson (deft.): I am 20 years old. Never knew John Touey until I saw him in Hickman this week. I was at home on night of Feb. 10 and took no part in the raid. Moon was shining "nearly straight up."

Chester Stowe: I talked with Vodie Montgomery Wednesday afternoon about hogs, etc.

Bud Dotson (deft.): I am 22 years old; cannot read or write. I was at home night of Feb. 10, and did not leave the place.

Joe Dotson: I am father of Bud and Ottie. Have 9 children at home. Was at home Wednesday night and my two boys were at home. His daughters, Misses Lovie, Deffie, Dessie, and small son all testified that their older brothers were at home and slept in the same room with them.

Mrs. Bud Thomas: Noah Knight was at my home on night of 10th. He, my husband and myself played cards. I heard the shooting at Philliply.

J. P. Plant: I know John Touey but cannot say as to his reputation. I've heard he was a bootlegger.

Wiley Harrison: Am son-in-law of Mr. Dotson. I think the boys were home all of Wednesday night.

Jess Harrison (deft.): Am 24 years old; live on Hamby Pond. Batched with Bob Ellis on night of 10th. Did not leave place. Took no oath; did no shooting.

Bob Ellis (deft.): I have a wife and two children. I took no part in this raid; first heard about it Thursday evening. Was at home Wednesday night; never took any oath.

E. F. Wadley: Am merchant, run store on Tipton's place at Philliply. Walking down levee he picked up No. 12 shotgun shell, unfired. This was filed as an exhibit with the court. Thought at time of trouble ground was dry about levee.

Clint Middleton: Overseer for W. C. Tipton. Noticed no seep water until Thursday. Thought ground in that section was dry on 10th.

WHAT SHALL WE DO ABOUT IT?

A Chance to Obtain State Aid in Road Building and Give Our Needy People Work—Will Our County Officers Act?

We wish briefly to call the attention of the people of Fulton county to the fact that by a recent act of our State Legislature our county officials can obtain sufficient aid from the State road fund from year to year, if proper steps are taken, and at once (the time for this year's benefit will pass at midnight March 4, 1915, so if action is taken, it must be taken quickly), by which, without increasing the taxes of our people one cent, every foot of public roads in Fulton county, amounting to some 210 miles in all, can be graded and graveled as quickly as men and teams can do the work, while employment can be given to hundreds of needy citizens at good wages, and all this near their homes; and all this without increasing our taxes by so much as one farthing, while at the same time we can year by year save thousands of dollars of the taxpayers' money from road expenses, and turn it into other needed improvements.

Already, since this State road law has become operative, nearly fifty counties have taken advantage of its provisions, one being that of Jefferson, which will pay into the fund ten times as much as it is possible to get out for her roads, while our county, Fulton, will get out over five times as much as we pay in, making, if our county officials take the proper steps to obtain this help, the ratio of fifty to one in favor of our county over that of the wealthy county of Jefferson.

But if our officials do not thus act, it simply means that we must still pay the same tax year by year, and wade in the mud, while other and more enterprising county officers, who look more carefully to the interests of their constituents and taxpayers, will take our money, which we must still pay, for the State law exacts it, and put it into the pockets of their own citizens for grading and graveling their own roads, leaving us in the mud with the bag to hold.

What shall we do about it?

In the next issue of the Courier, with the editor's permission, we will give positive proof, by figures which cannot lie, just how easy and simply this work can be done, to the very great advantage of every citizen of the county, not only the tenant farmers and day laborers, whose interests should appeal as much to the county officials as those of the large taxpayers, but to those large taxpayers themselves. The day has passed for our officials to play favoritism. The tenant farmer and the common laborer, with only a sow and a pig, or in the stress of his misfortune he may have even less, but with a family of children to educate, and whose taxes may be only a dollar or two, is as much entitled to good roads over which his children can get to school, or his discouraged and overburdened wife can visit a neighbor for an hour's respite from work and worry, I insist that these people are as much entitled to consideration as is the man whose taxes may run into hundreds of dollars, but who gets a corresponding benefit in increased valuation on lands.

A Card to Owners of Rural Telephone Lines

We are anxious to see that all lines owned by other parties and connected with us are kept in such condition as to furnish efficient service. Where the owners of rural lines are responsible for their upkeep, we want to co-operate with them.

All lines require a thorough overhauling occasionally if the best service is to be obtained. We recommend that every line connected with us be overhauled at least once a year, and that at least one experienced telephone man assist in this work. The cost of this work when divided among all the patrons of the line, makes the amount paid by each man small, and this cost will be more than offset by the improved service.

If the owners of rural telephone lines in this section are experiencing trouble with their service, we will appreciate their talking the matter over with our Manager or writing us fully. We will gladly do what we can toward helping you improve the condition of your line.

OBITUARY.BENJAMIN F. WILSON DIES OF PNEUMONIA.

It is with deep regret that the Courier chronicles the death of our esteemed friend, Benjamin Ferdinand Wilson, who departed this life last Thursday afternoon, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Chas. Isbell, after a very brief illness of pneumonia. He was confined to his bed only two days.

Mr. Wilson was one of our oldest and most highly respected citizens. On the 2nd day of last August he passed the 68th mile stone on the highway of life. Deceased was born in Monroe county, Ky., Aug. 2, 1846. When a small boy he came to Hickman with his parents, who settled here in 1851. He has resided here almost continuously since that time.

Too young to join the colors at the outbreak of hostilities, he waited until 1863, at which time he was accepted as a member of the 7th Ky. Cavalry, under Gen. N. B. Forrest, and served with distinction until the close of the war. He was one of the youngest—but one of the best—soldiers of the Confederacy, being fourteen years old at time of enlistment. In 1870 he was united in marriage with Miss Nina LaVallee, who crossed the Great Divide several years ago.

As a result of this union, three children survive—Mrs. C. T. Isbell, Mrs. Dee Harper and Sam A. Wilson. He is also survived by one sister, Miss Bell Wilson, of Union City.

For almost a half century Mr. Wilson has been a member of the Christian church, living an exemplary life.

Funeral services were conducted at the home of Mrs. Isbell at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon by Rev. J. B. Housley, of the Second Baptist church. Burial at city cemetery.

We mourn with those who mourn the loss of Mr. Wilson. He was an upright, honorable, big-hearted, Christian gentleman. He will be missed.

ROBT. TAYLOR DOUGGLAS.
FORMERLY OF HICKMAN.

Robert Taylor Douglas, a former resident of Hickman, died at Memphis, at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, as a result of a stroke of paralysis some two weeks ago.

Deceased was born in Campbell-ville, Ky., Oct. 3, 1849, and moved here when a small boy, where he made his home until about 15 years ago. In Memphis he was engaged in the real estate business.

When in Hickman, he was engaged in the stock business and at one time was prosperous and at one time was proprietor of the Old Commercial Hotel. He was a member of the M. E. Church, of Memphis, and was a man held in high esteem by his friends and business associates. Two brothers survive him—W. B. Douglas, of Los Angeles, and C. A. Douglas, of Portland, Oregon.

The remains will be brought to Hickman for interment. Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. R. M. Walker at the residence of Ira Green, a nephew, tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the body laid to rest at Poplar Grove cemetery.

Deceased had many friends in Hickman who will be grieved to learn of his death. He was an honorable, kindly, God-fearing man.

Lent is on.

CASHIER SHUMATE IS PLACED ON TRIAL.

Q. Shumate, well known in Hickman, father of Porter Shumate, who established the Peoples Bank here, who, as cashier of the defunct Newbern Bank, is charged with receiving money from depositors when he knew that the bank was insolvent, was placed on trial at Dyersburg, Monday.

Mr. Shumate, who is 60 years old, had been cashier of the bank for 27 years and was a man in whom the people put the utmost confidence.

When the State bank examiner found the true condition of the bank and that heavy loans and overdrafts of officials of the bank was unsecured, he advised the directors to close the bank, which was done May 19, 1914. The loss was nearly $100,000, the capital stock of the institution being completely wiped out.

The State bank examiner on the stand showed that Shumate owed the bank $48,000, notes for $34,000 and $14,000 overdraft.

In the evidence brought out Tuesday, the name of Porter Shumate, was a feature of the case. One witness stated that Porter was overdrawn at the bank $2179 and this amount was unsecured and he had no property, real or personal in the State.

ELEVEN SHIPS VICTIMS IN SEA WAR IN WEEK.

The German blockade of the British Isles has been in effect for a week, with the result that, so far as is known, two Norwegian, one French and five British steamers have been sunk or torpedoed by submarines, with the loss of four lives. Two of these steamers, the Belridge and the Dinorah, succeeded in reaching port.

On the other side of the account it is reported that two German submarines are missing and that a third had been hit and possibly sunk by a French destroyer.

Besides the vessels which fell victims to the submarines, two American and one Norwegian steamers have been sunk by mines in the North Sea and the Swedish steamer Specia and one or two British steamers are overdue, and it is feared have been lost with their crews.

STORE BROKEN INTO IN WEST HICK. LAST NIGHT.

G. M. Ross' store No. 2, a grocery in the Green Walker building in West Hickman, was broken into last night. The thief gained entrance by breaking a pane of glass in a back window. This enabled him to remove the stick holding the window and raise it. The cash register was looted of some small change and possibly some articles of merchandise are missing. In breaking the window glass, the prowler must have cut his hand as blood was found on the register and bloody finger prints were noticeable on the counters and window casings.

Bloodhounds will arrive from Water Valley this morning and an attempt made to run down the thief.

THE NOTORIOUS JUMPING FROG OF CALAVERAS COUNTY

By Mark Twain

Twenty-four famous authors were asked recently to name the best short story in the English language. The choice of Owen Johnson was "The Notorious Jumping Frog of Calaveras County," by Mark Twain, whose complete works are published by Messrs. Harper & Brothers.

MARK TWAIN

OWEN JOHNSON

In compliance with the request of a friend of mine who wrote from the east, I called on good natured, garrulous old Simon Wheeler and inquired after my friend's friend, Leonidas W. Smiley, as requested to do, and I hereunto append the result. I have a lurking suspicion that Leonidas W. Smiley is a myth; that my friend never knew such a personage, and that he only conjectured that if I asked old Wheeler about him it would remind him of his infamous Jim Smiley, and he would go to work and bore me to death with some exasperating reminiscence of him as long and as tedious as it should be useless to me. If that was the design it succeeded.

I found Simon Wheeler dozing comfortably by the barroom stove of the dilapidated tavern in the decayed mining camp of Angel's, and I noticed that he was fat and baldheaded and had an expression of winning gentleness and simplicity upon his tranquil countenance. He roused up and gave me good day. I told him a friend of mine had commissioned me to make some inquiries about a cherished companion of his boyhood, named Leonidas W. Smiley, Rev. Leonidas W. Smiley, a young minister of the gospel, who he had heard was at one time resident of Angel's Camp. I added that if Mr. Wheeler could tell me anything about this Rev. Leonidas W. Smiley, I would be greatly obliged to him.

Simon Wheeler backed me into a corner and blockaded me there with his chair and then sat down and reeled off the monotonous narrative which follows this paragraph. He never smiled, he never frowned, he never changed his voice from the gentle flowing key to which he tuned his initial sentence, he never betrayed the slightest suspicion of enthusiasm, but all through the interminable narrative there ran a vein of impressive earnestness and sincerity which showed me plainly that, so far from his imagining that there was anything ridiculous or funny about his story, he regarded it as a really important matter and admired its two heroes as men of transcendent genius in fineness. I let him go on in his own way and never interrupted him once.

"Rev. Leonidas W.—h'm—Rev. LeWell, there was a feller here once by the name of Jim Smiley in the winter of '49, or maybe it was the spring of '50. I don't recollect exactly somehow, though what makes me think it was one or the other is because I remember the big flume warn't finished when he first come to the camp. But anyway he was the curiosities man about, always betting on anything that turned up you ever see if he could get anybody to bet on the other side, and if he couldn't he'd change sides. Any way that suited the other side would suit him. Just so's he got a bet he was satisfied.

"But still he was lucky, uncommon lucky. He most always come out winner. He was always ready and laying for a chance. There couldn't be no solitary thing mentioned but that feller'd offer to bet on it and take any side you please, as I was just telling you. If there was a horse race you'd find him there or you'd find him busted at the end of it; if there was a dog fight he'd bet on it; if there was a cat fight he'd bet on it; if there was a chicken fight he'd bet on it. Why, if there was two birds setting on a fence he'd bet you which one would fly first, or if there was a camp meeting he'd bet there regular to bet on Parson Walker, which he judged to be the best exhorter about here, and so was, too, and a good man.

"If he even see a straddle bug start to go anywhere he would bet you how long it would take him to get to wherever he was going to, and if you took him up he would feller that straddle bug to Mexico but what he would find out where he was bound for and how long he was on the road. Lots of the boys here has seen that Smiley and can tell you about him. Why, it never made no difference to him—he'd bet anything—the dangerous feller. Parson Walker's wife laid very sick once for a good while, and it seemed as if they warn't going to save her. But one morning he came in, and Smiley up and asked him how she was, and he said she was consider'ble better, thank the Lord for his infinit mercy, and coming on so smart that, with the blessing of Prov'dence, she'd get well yet. And Smiley before he thought, 'Well, I'll risk $2.50 she don't stay.'

"This yer Smiley had a mare—the was in him and he had genius. I know it, because he had no opportunities to speak of, and it don't stand to reason that a dog could make such a fight as he could under them circumstances if he hadn't no talent. It always makes me feel sorry when I think of that last fight of his'n and the way it turned out.

"Well, this yer Smiley had rat tarsiers and chicken cocks and tomatos and all them kind of things till you couldn't rest, and you couldn't fetch nothing for him to bet on but he'd match you. He ketchet a frog one day and took him home and said he call'd to educate him, and so he never done nothing for three months but set in his back yard and learn that frog to jump. And you bet he did learn him too. He'd give him a little punch behind, and the next minute you'd see that frog whirling in the air like a doughnut—see him turn one somerset or maybe a couple, if he got a good start, and come down flatfooted and all right, like a cat. He got him up so in the matter of ketching flies and kep' him in practice so constant that he'd nail a fly every time as far as he could see him.

"Smiley said all a frog wanted was education and he could do most anything, and I believe him. Why, I've seen him set Dan'l Webster down here on this floor—Dan'l Webster was the name of the frog—and sing out, 'Flees, Dan'l, flees!' And quicker'n you could wink he'd spring straight up and snake a fly off the counter there and flop down on the floor ag'in as solid as a gob of mud and fall to scratching the side of his head with his hind foot, as indifferent as if he hadn't no idea he'd been doing any more'n any frog might do. You never see a frog so modest and straightforward as he was, for all he was so gifted. And when it come to fair and square jumping on a dead level he could get over more ground at one straddle than any animal of his breed you ever see. Jumping on a dead level was his strong suit, you understand, and when it come to that Smiley would ante up money on him as long as he had a red. Smiley was monstrous proud of his frog, and well he might be, for fellers that had traveled and been everywhere all said he laid over any frog that ever they see.

"Well, Smiley kep' the beast in a little lattice box, and he used to fetch him downtown sometimes and lay for a bet. One day a feller—a stranger in the camp he was—come aroost him with his box and says:

"What might it be that you've got in the box?"

"And Smiley said, sorter indifferent-like, 'It might be a parrot, or it might be a canary maybe, but it ain't—it's only just a frog.'

"And the feller took it and looked at it careful and turned it around this way and that and says: 'H'm! So tis. Well, what's he good for?'

"The feller took the box again and took another long, particular look and give it back to Smiley and says very deliberate, 'Well, I don't see no plints about that frog that's any better'n any other frog.'

"'Maybe you don't,' Smiley says. 'Maybe you understand frogs, and maybe you don't understand 'em. Maybe you've had experience, and maybe you ain't only a amateur as it were. Anyways I've got my opinion, and I'll risk $40 that he can outjump any frog in Calaveras county.'

"And the feller studied a minute and then says kinder sad-like, 'Well, I'm only a stranger here, and I ain't got no frog, but if I had a frog, I'd bet you.'

"And then Smiley says: 'That's all right; that's all right. If you'll hold my box a minute I'll go and get you a frog.' And so the feller took the box and put up his $40 along with Smiley's and set down to wait.

"So he sat there a good while thinking and thinking to hisself, and then he got the frog out and pried his mouth open and took a spoon and dited him full of quail shot, filled him pretty near up to his chin and set him on the floor. Smiley went to the swamp and slopped around in the mud for a long time, and finally he ketched a frog and fetched him in and give him to this feller and says:

"Now, if you're ready set him alongside of Dan'l, with his forepaws just even with Dan'l's, and I'll give the word. Then he says, 'One two-three-git!' And him and the feller touched up the frogs from behind and the new frog hopped off lively, but Dan'l give a heave and hysted up his shoulders so like a Frenchman, but it warn't no use, he couldn't budge. He was planted as solid as a church, and he couldn't no more stir than if he was anchored out. Smiley was a good deal surprised, and he was disgusted, too, but he didn't have no idea what the matter was, of course.

"The feller took the money and started away, and when he was going out at the door he sorter jerked his thumb over his shoulder, so at Dan'l, and says again, very deliberate, 'Well,' he says, 'I don't see no p'ints about that frog that's any better'n any other frog.'

"Smiley he stood scratching his head and looking down at Dan'l a long time, and at last he says, 'I do wonder what in the nation that frog throw's off! I wonder if there ain't something the matter with him! He 'pears to look mighty boggly somehow.' And he ketchet Dan'l by the nap of the neck and hefted him and says, 'Why, blame my cats, if he don't weigh five pound!' and turned him upside down, and he belched out a double handful of shot. And then he see how it was.

(Here Simon Wheeler heard his name called from the front yard and got up to see what was wanted.) Turning to me as he moved away, he said, "Just set where you are, stranger, and rest easy. I ain't goin' to be gone a second."

But, by your leave, I did not think that a continuation of the history of the enterprising vagabond, Jim Smiley, would be likely to afford me much information concerning the Rev. Leonidas W. Smiley, and so I started away.

At the door I met the sociable Wheeler returning, and he buttonholed me and recommended:

"Well, this yer Smiley had a yaller one eyed cow that didn't have no tail, only jest a short stump like a bannaner, and"—

However, lacking both time and inclination, I did not wait to hear about the afflicted cow, but took my leave.

Health of the Mind.

To be made whole is to be healed in both body and mind. Bodily healing alone does not suffice, for unless there is a change of mind also disease will again manifest itself in some form in the body, and the second condition of the patient may become worse than the first. On the other hand, a change of mind is quickly manifested in the body, and if we have been "transformed by the renewing of our mind" the change is quickly evidenced by the restoration of the body to health and harmony.—Unity.

The Name "Tennis."

Numerous suggestions have been put forward for the derivation of the word "Tennis." Perhaps the most likely is that it is an anglicized form of "tennis" (catch it), a term frequently used by the French in their ancient game of jeu de paume or palm play.

COMFORTING WORDS

Many A Hickman Household will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove comforting words to hundreds of Hickman readers.

W. A. Smith, Hickman, Ky., says: "I can highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as I have used them for kidney trouble and have always been greatly benefited. I had pains across the small of my back and in my sides. My kidneys and bladder were weak, obliging me to get up at night. Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. Now, I seldom have need of a kidney remedy."

VALUE OF THE GARDEN

Usefulness Cannot Be Measured in Money Alone.

Farmer Will Find It Profitable to Devote Small Patch of Land to Vegetables—Location Should Be Near the Home.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

If the value of the home garden were to be estimated in money alone it is safe to say that the returns from a small plot of land devoted to this purpose would be from eight to ten times greater than the value of the cotton which could be raised on the same area. Many southern farmers will refuse to believe this. It is, however, a fact that experts in agriculture have thoroughly demonstrated. For several years past, canning-club girls have made annual net profits of from twenty to fifty dollars on gardens only one-tenth of an acre in extent, and in Alabama this year products worth $700 were raised on seven-tenths of an acre. The usefulness of the garden, however, cannot be measured in money alone, and no man can afford to ignore the important part that an adequate supply of fresh vegetables plays in preserving the health of his family.

It is obvious that when a man buys vegetables he not only pays for the cost of production, but for the cost of transportation and marketing. He obtains, however, an inferior article. Many vegetables lose their characteristic flavor within a few hours, and none are so free from the danger of infection or so palatable as those which are grown at home. In practice, however, if the farmer does not grow his own vegetables it means that in a great majority of cases his family gets no vegetables at all. One result of this is a demand for tonics and other medicines in the spring, for it is a well-known fact that vegetables and fruits furnish many ingredients absolutely essential to human health. Where a monotonous winter diet fails to supply these ingredients, the human system suffers and recourse is had to medicine.

For reasons both of health and money therefore, the farmer will find it profitable to devote the small amount of land and the small amount of labor that it requires. The amount of land depends, of course, upon the size of the family. In a majority of cases, however, from one-fourth to one-half of an acre will be found sufficient to produce an adequate supply of vegetables throughout the entire year. Close attention must, of course, be paid to the rotation and succession of crops, the planting planned with forethought, and the cultivation done as carefully as that of any field crop. No specific arrangement can be laid down that would suit all requirements, and each grower must devise plans to meet his own conditions. In this he is strongly urged to seek the assistance which county agents, state agricultural experiment stations, and the federal department of agriculture can give him.

There are, however, certain fundamental principles which apply equally to all gardens. The garden should always be located as close to the house as good ground can be secured. This means that the garden can be cared for at odd moments, when it would be neglected if it were at an inconvenient distance. The vegetables should be planted in long rows in or-intervals of ten days or two weeks until the hot weather sets in. Cabbage is also desirable, because it is economical in the use of land and may be sown through a large part of the year. For spring and early summer good varieties are the Jersey Wakefield, Charleston Wakefield, All Head Early and Succession. In most sections of the South it will hardly pay to attempt to grow cabbage during midsummer but a fall crop as well as a spring crop should be grown. Cauliflower is generally regarded as a greater delicacy, but it is not so hardy as cabbage. For further information on these and similar vegetables such as celery, lettuce, cucumbers, eggplant, etc., the prospective gardener should apply to his state experiment station or to the division of publications of the U. S. department of agriculture for the various farmers' bulletins on these subjects.

Although, as has already been said, the choice of vegetables to be grown in the garden must be determined by individual tastes and circumstances, spinach should not be omitted. This can be grown in the open throughout the fall and winter all along the coast south from Norfolk, Va., and inland through the lower tier of southern states. In the colder regions, a little protection may be necessary during the severest weather, but two or three inches of hay, straw or leaves will usually be found sufficient. Seed planted in the autumn will furnish greens throughout the winter and early spring. Spinach should be sown in drills twelve to fifteen inches apart, at the rate of one ounce to 100 feet of row. For the average family, three or four ounces of seed will be found sufficient.

In an article of this kind, however, it is obviously impossible even to name all the products that a garden may be made to yield. The farmer who has hitherto neglected the possibilities of a half acre or so devoted to the purpose should begin with the simpler and most useful vegetables and gradually increase the variety in his garden as his experience and knowledge of vegetable growing grows.

No mention has been made in this article of potatoes, for their importance in the family diet entitles them to an article to themselves, which will follow shortly.

THE MERCHANT MARINE.

After careful study we have come to the conclusion that these are the principal objections to the creation of an American merchant marine:

There would not be sufficient freight to make it pay.

There would be too much freight for it to carry.

Foreign countries would object to it as detrimental to their interest.

It would benefit foreign countries more than it would benefit the United States.

Ocean freight rates are so high that no foreign owners would sell their ships.

Ocean freight rates are so low that it would have to be run at a loss.

There are no American officers to command the ships.

It would throw American officers out of work.

Government ownership would prevent competition by private companies.

A government owned line could not compete with the more economically run private companies.

There is no demand for an American merchant marine.

Government ships will not meet the demand for an American merchant marine.

5-GALLON JUG LIQUOR GETS DAVIS "IN BAD."

Five gallons of liquor in one jug is enough to excite the suspicions of any officer, and as a result of being caught in that predicament, Vester Davis was fined $50 and $11 cost by a jury in Police Court Monday. Officers Sid Hamby and Joe Wall were tipped off that Mr. Davis and a friend had gone to Woodland Mills to receive a shipment of booze, and they "layed" for them on the return trip, nabbing both liquor and its owner. Davis explained to the jury that this whiskey was a joint order placed by several of the boys, but the jury didn't place much confidence in his statement. It was further proven by an express messenger that Davis had received 81 pints in the past 42 days. The presence of the five gallon jug and the testimony of the expressman put a crimp in Davis' defense and the jury assessed the above fine.

For unlawfully discharging firearms, Xmas Haynes was fined $5 and costs.

Other breach of the peace convictions this week were: Henry King, Will Temperton, John Hughes and Will Taylor; each pulled down a $5 fine with $6.50 costs.

So far as we have been able to ascertain, there hasn't been a single individual taxpayer opposed to proposition of bonding the county for the purpose of building gravel roads. There was a time when this agitation would have been classed as a flight of the fancy, pure and simple. That was before the State aid law sprang into existence; before there was such a thing as footing only one-half the bill. But to cut an item of expense exactly half changes the situation. For this reason, many people who formerly opposed any effort toward graveling beyond our means, are now heartily in favor of it. If we all want gravel or hard roads, let's get them. The taxes will not be a penny more than we are now paying. Bonds can be voted and the thing done. The first step is to draw up a petition with the signature of 150 tax payers of the county signed to it, asking the county judge to call an election for the purpose of voting on the question. The Courier believes such an election would be promptly called and carried by a handsome majority. Who'll start 'er?

Fred Bondurant has accepted a position with Ezell & Son.

GET THESE LOAFERS.

A fine lot of scamps are disporting around Hickman, Lake County, and around New Madrid, Mo. They are engaged in the business of running negroes out of the country.

In Lake county they have already burned one house. Some of these men object to negroes working on the levees. Others say that the negroes are paying more for the rent of land than they ought to pay.

These men do not want to work but they want to work somebody else. They are of the same stripe that have been marauding around Central City, Ky. These knights have dubbed themselves "possum hunters."

They are also the same sort that terrorized the region around Reelfoot Lake several years ago and murdered Quentin Rankin.

The property owners and decent white people of the territory should protect the decent white and negro laborers at all hazards, and they should not rest until the fighting loafers are caught and a few of them sent to the penitentiary.

The only grievance that these men have is that they cannot live a whole week by working one day and that they cannot have an acre of land for nothing and compel the owner to pay the taxes on it.

Determined if possible to live without work, they are equally insistent that nobody around them shall work, unless this work rebounds to their support. — Commercial Appeal.
